

Dermot Corrigan, Chief Executive Officer

Dermot began his career at Frost & Sullivan where, after a number of years in international account management, he established its European healthcare consulting practice and later ran the Europe-wide sales force. In late 1999 he was appointed Sales and Marketing Director, Europe, Middle East and Africa for PR Newswire. From there he joined LexisNexis, where he ran the news aggregation business and pioneered LexisNexis' initiatives in high growth, technology-led markets.

After a year working on a range of strategic change assignments for the board of Wolters Kluwer and supporting a number of digital media businesses – two of which he retains an interest in – Dermot was appointed CEO of Imprezzeo in October 2007.